Your role:

We are looking for an enthusiastic Cloud Engineer who is eager to learn and keep extending his technical expertise. As a part of our Public Cloud Team, you will have the opportunity to design, develop and manage highly scalable, available and fault-tolerant cloud-based solutions (native & hybrid). You will also be a key player on extending our cloud capabilities following latest market technology and security trends.

Your responsibilities will include:

As part of your role, you will have the following opportunities:

Manage and operate the cloud platform together with a team of cloud experts and architects

Help us develop an effective cloud infrastructure by providing technical oversight and ensure that best practices for security are implemented

Following infrastructure as code principles, contribute on automating cloud components and integrate them in release pipelines

Collaborate with product teams to identify optimal solutions, design applications and ensure they meet business needs

Support the products releases going from lab environments to production

You will develop infrastructure as code on Azure using best practices and support implementations from development to production

As third line support you will help identifying issues to specific Azure services or the Azure platform, and you will conduct in-depth diagnosis of problems

You will build new tools and automate to take the maximum benefit of the Cloud capabilities, including automating tools for troubleshooting, diagnostic and others

You will cooperate with leadership on process improvement and strategic initiatives

You will also write and update technical documentation such as user manuals, system documentation, technical standards and training materials

Requirements:

Proven work experience as Cloud Engineer or similar role

You have hands-on experience in governing Azure (Management Groups, Subscriptions, Azure Policies, RBAC, security center)

You have hands-on experience in cloud automation and deployment techniques (ARM templates, Terraform, CI/CD)

You understand the traditional IT architectures (Virtualization, Windows, Linux, Storage, Containers)

You can propose high-available and fault-tolerant architectures that match our security requirements

You have knowledge of networking and core internet protocols (. TCP/IP, DNS, SMTP, HTTP and distributed networks)

You can design, implement and troubleshoot a technical hybrid cloud solution

Ability to build relationships with our customers

Ability to influence and negotiate to achieve the defined goals

Ability to distinguish between quick wins and long-term goals. You know what, when and where to check in order to guarantee quality
