Company: microTECH Global Ltd

Location: East Flanders

Category: other-general

New role just in for a team in Belgium that are becoming a purely GaN focussed semiconductor company.

Looking to expand the R&D and business development team, they are looking for multiple talented semiconductor engineers and technical managers, both juniors and seniors, for a variety of technical and business domains.

Experience in GaN is a strong asset, but also looking for engineers & technical managers with backgrounds in other semiconductors (e.g. Si, SiC) or related domains (e.g. electronic circuits and power applications), that want to make the transition to the exciting and expanding world of GaN.

Also, young engineers soon graduating with a MSc or Phd degree in solid state physics, micro/nano-electronics, power IC circuits or power electronics, or adjacent fields in chemical/physical/electronic sciences, technologies, and products, will be considered.

The role:

- Closely collaborate and co-design with technologists and product designers
- Bridge the gap between R&D engineers and new customers & products
- Unfold and explore new business opportunities at a global scale and onboard new customers.

- Provide technical support to customers in all aspects of technologies through product qualification.

The requirements:

- MsC or PhD in relevant field plus hands-on experience with GaN technologies and products
- An affinity and experience in working with customers, developing and growing new product lines.
- Strong communication skills to work cross-segment and liase between customers and internal support. Natural networking skills.
- Strong appetite for innovation, keeping acquainted with the newest products.
- Fluent in English
