Netzwerkinfrastruktur, Netzwerktechnik, Router, IT,Hardware, Konfiguration

Future-oriented technology is our passion and in order to always think one step ahead, we need a team of forwardthinkers. Do you want responsibility and are you looking for challenges? As a field service technician (all genders)*, you will be responsible for installing network infrastructure at the customer's site.

We are looking for with immediate effect a network technician, installation technician, customer service technician, IT technician or comparable as:

Field service technician (all genders)*

Your mission:

As a field service technician, you are the hero on site! With your technical skills and experience in system installation and maintenance, you solve problems directly at the customer's premises. Ready for exciting tasks?

On-site installation and configuration of network and AV devices: Our position offers a wide range of responsible tasks. You will be responsible for installing and configuring network infrastructure such as access points, switches and routers directly at the customer's site. You will also be responsible for installing and configuring TV and digital signage devices.

Interactive error analysis and development opportunities: Our position offers more than just technical tasks. You will carry out guided work as part of fault analyses and actively communicate with customers and colleagues. You will also create deployment reports to provide a clear overview of work carried out and hardware installed. But that's not all - with us you will have the chance to develop your technical skills and continuously improve and develop your abilities as part of our Trainee on the Job program.

Your strengths:

With your extensive professional experience and strong customer focus, you are adept at working independently and have manual dexterity. Your in-depth knowledge of system installation and maintenance speaks for itself. You implement plans precisely and always keep an eye on efficiency.

Thanks to your good organizational and communication skills, you master complex tasks in a structured manner and communicate effectively with colleagues and customers. Your German language skills enable smooth communication at all levels. You are willing to travel and see this as an opportunity to take on new challenges and support our team. You also have a valid driver's license for flexible assignments.

What we offer you:

Working in an agile company with an informal culture and an open-door mentality

30 vacation days & special leave

The opportunity to take a longer break through our long-term vacation account

Individual further training, both personal and professional

Permanent employment, because we want to achieve long-term cooperation

Capital-forming benefits and an above-average contribution to the company pension scheme (bAV)

Partnership-based cooperation and team events

We provide you with a company car that you can also use privately

Daycare allowance of up to 250 euros possible

Equipment according to your needs

Your own ideas and innovations are always welcome

You can expect a team of highly motivated colleagues who are keen to develop something together

Become part of the m3connect team as a field service technician (all genders)*.
