What will you be doing as a Salesforce Architect

Your goal is to design a well thought out and robust backbone for our applications built on the Salesforce platform. Together with the development team and our business consultants, you will be involved in the functional and technical analysis of our projects to create the architecture.

You will be responsible for performing analysis on the customer's business needs and processes.

In addition, you will always follow up on feedback

Furthermore, as Salesforce Architect, you will be involved in the development and delivery of the project.

We have hubs in our delaware offices in Ghent and Lummen. You can choose to work at the office or work from home and make the occasional trip to one of our customers. You'll experience the flexibility, drive and excitement of an upcoming offering within delaware, while also enjoying all the support and stability of an international consultancy firm.
