Your challenge

As a Senior Developer, you will be working on our Angular frontend tech stack by preparing it for an infinite scalable future in the cloud. You will be working in the team to define which technologies are best suited for the challenge at hand, ensuring we can work in all our environments to create the best possible user experience. You are driven by automation and know-how to leverage CI/CD to create an efficient and qualitative delivery of our software.

What you will do

You will report to the Team Lead and collaborate to grow and build our platform

Work with the team and inspire, grow others

Assist in defining the way of working from a technical perspective

Apply DevOps best practices in the Team's mindset

Be the technical coach for your peers

Assist in defining our platform architecture together with the Team Architect

Expectations

Have a deep technical knowledge and experience in your own discipline

Have knowledge about internal and external business issues and use best practices to improve technical products

Analyze complex technical problems and adapts standardized solutions to these problems

Can work independently

Be a valuable resource for colleagues with less experience

Contribute influentially to development projects and manage functional projects

Where necessary, can influence priorities

What you bring along

About 5 years proven experience building micro services platforms

Solid experience using Angular and TypeScript

Applied knowledge of software engineering best practices (TDD, DDD, SOLID, etc.)

Experience with time-series and analytics is considered an asset

Software engineering background or significant relevant experience

Eager to learn modern technologies and share your expertise with the team

Passionate about software development, innovation, and creative thinking

Team player both in attitude and achieving results

Broad interest in technologies

Fluent in English, knowledge of other languages is a plus

Experience with other technologies in our product portfolio is an advantage, in particular: Kubernetes, Angular, Streaming & Event-driven stacks

Do not miss the opportunity to…

Become part of a smart and ambitious team that will help you thrive

Experience the rise of a successful and fast-growing company

Join a dynamic environment with a lot to learn and do

Work in and with international teams that are focused on delivering excellent value to our customers

Work on an innovative big data analytics product

Design, implement, and test features using agile and DevOps methodologies.
